Identification of regulatory mechanisms in T cells provides new opportunities for therapeutic interventions. Dr. Kaminski will discuss how changes in the non-coding genome can affect T cell exhaustion, how CAR-T cell therapy can activate other T cells, and how the transcriptional program of CAR-T cells changes between blood and the central nervous system (CNS).